

NCUDC UDC Magazine Historical Articles

United Daughters of the Confederacy Wants YOU to write an article for the UDC MAGAZINE!!

HISTORICAL ARTICLES

Guidelines for Submitting

Historical articles and relevant photographs are published free of charge. Quoted material must be acknowledged in the article. Articles should not comprise simply a list of quoted material. Publication of all articles and photos is at the discretion of the editors. Articles that are not accepted include previously published articles, genealogy and opinions.

- Content – Historical articles must relate to the Confederacy (e.g., antebellum, wartime and post war). The length should be between 1000 to 2000 words or six to eight pages. The emphasis should be on facts and figures from authoritative sources (No Wikipedia) and concise writing, maximizing communication while minimizing the number of words. A full bibliography must be included. In the heading, include the full name of the author and the name and number of the Chapter, as well as city and state, if the author is a UDC or CofC member. Complete bibliographies MUST be included and articles should be double checked for any plagiarism.
- Timeline – Every effort is made to publish the article in the member's Special Issue. However, the placement is not guaranteed. Articles may be held for possible future publication.
- Photographs – Credit must be given to the image's source, accompanied by written permission from the source or owner to use the image.
- How to Submit – Email digital file and mail printed copy with a Submission Form (at end of this Manual or from the UDC General Website – Member's Only Section) to the Magazine Coordinator in the UDC Business Office at least 90 days before the requested magazine issue of publication. Do not send original historic letters or photographs. A disk containing the manuscript as a Word file (i.e., not a scanned file) may accompany the paper copy mailed to the UDC Business Office. Hard Copy articles and/or on disk will not be returned.
